DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312.
 To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Aldo Martinez (Reg.No.61,357).

The application has been amended as follows:

In Claim 1, the last limitation has been changed to:

"...correcting means for correcting a deviation of the data from the clock signal corresponding to the error between the amplitude of the reproduced signal and the reference point, the deviation of the data being corrected on the basis of a difference between an interval of the synchronization pattern detected and a predetermined period, and on the basis of a segment time based upon the error detected, the segment time corresponding to a time at which the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred, the segment time being one of a plurality of segments into which the interval of the synchronization pattern is divided."

Claim 3 has been changed to:

The reproducing apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein the error detecting means detects a phase error, which is an error in a time direction between the reference point and the reproduced signal, and the correcting means corrects the deviation of the data from the clock signal, on the basis of the difference between the interval of the synchronization pattern detected and the period predetermined, and on the basis of the segment time based upon the phase error detected, the segment time corresponding to the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred.

Claim 4 has been changed to:

The reproducing apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein the error detecting means detects a zerocrossing offset, which is an error in an amplitude direction between the reference point and the reproduced signal, and the correcting means corrects the deviation of the data from the clock signal, on the basis of the difference between the interval of the synchronization pattern detected and the period predetermined, and on the basis of the segment time based upon the zero-crossing offset detected, the segment time corresponding to the deviation of the data from the clock signal.

In Claim 5, the last limitation has been changed to:

"...control means for controlling the FIFO buffer such that the data equivalent to of a period from the deviation occurrence time to a detection time of the synchronization pattern is moved in a time direction according to so as to correspond to the deviation amount, on the basis of the deviation amount and the deviation occurrence time, in a case where the deviation amount other than 0 has been detected."

In Claim 6, the last limitation has been changed to:

"...correcting a deviation of the data from the clock signal corresponding to the error between the amplitude of the reproduced signal and the reference point, the deviation of the data being corrected on the basis of a difference between an interval of the synchronization pattern detected and a predetermined period, and on the basis of a segment time, based upon the error detected, the segment time corresponding to a time at which the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred, the segment time being one of a plurality of segments into which the interval of the synchronization pattern is divided."

In Claim 8, the last limitation has been changed to:

"...correcting a deviation of the data from the clock signal corresponding to the error between the amplitude of the reproduced signal and the reference point, the deviation of the data being corrected on the basis of a difference between an interval of the synchronization pattern detected and a predetermined period, and on the basis of a segment time, based upon the error detected, the segment time corresponding to a time at which the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred, the segment time being one of a plurality of segments into which the interval of the synchronization pattern is divided."

- Claims 1-6,8 (now renumbered 1-7) are allowed.
- 3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Independent Claim 1, is allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken alone or in combination, in particular Yamazaki et al. (US 7,054,088), Chainer et al. (US 6,324,027), do not teach or suggest a reproducing apparatus comprising correcting means for correcting a deviation of the data from the clock signal corresponding to the error between the amplitude of the reproduced signal and the reference point, the deviation of the data being corrected on the basis of a difference between an interval of the synchronization pattern detected and a predetermined period, and on the basis of a segment time based upon the error detected, the segment time corresponding to a time at which the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred, the segment time being one of a plurality of segments into which the interval of the synchronization pattern is divided, in combination with the other limitations in the claim.

Independent Claims 1 & 8, are allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken alone or in combination, in particular Yamazaki et al. (US 7,054,088), Chainer et al. (US 6,324,027), do not teach or suggest a reproducing method comprising: correcting a deviation of the data from the dock signal corresponding to the error between the amplitude of the reproduced signal and the reference point, the deviation of the data being corrected on the basis of a difference between an interval of the synchronization pattern detected and a predetermined period, and on the basis of a segment time, based upon the error detected, the segment time corresponding to a time at which the deviation of the data from the clock signal has occurred, the segment time being one of a plurality of segments into which the interval of the synchronization pattern is divided, in combination with the other limitations in the claim.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Kool et al. (US 6,449,111); Suzuki et al. (US 5,930,216);Bliss et al. (US 6,009,549);Tanaka et al. (US 5,881,037);Hikimura et al. (US 2004/0179444); Zook et al. (US 5,844,920).
